The Newsletter for License Coordinators of TeachingBooks.net

February 2011

Vol. 7, No. 2

*This monthly newsletter provides the inside scoop on how you can maximize the use of TeachingBooks.
Please forward pertinent information to your colleagues.*

Do Your Literacy and ELA Teachers Know That They Have TeachingBooks.net?

We want your teachers to enjoy and benefit from TeachingBooks' ready-to-use resources about the books and authors being read in your school, as well as help them know about and optimally use the subscription, so please guide us to support their reading and literacy work. For example, we would be delighted to meet with a reading coordinator, demonstrate TeachingBooks at a meeting, give you materials to disseminate, and/or add colleagues as contacts to your license. Please call or email us if we can implement any of these suggestions, or if you have an idea of your own.

The 2011 Award-winning Books

TeachingBooks has recently called the ALA book award winners, and compiled resources about their books so that everyone can have the opportunity to learn about the craft of bookmaking directly from these book creators.

Please enjoy this collection from the 2011 Award-winning Books button on the TeachingBooks home page (with the pink ribbon) or direct at: <http://www.TeachingBooks.net/Awards2011>

NEW: Sharing Tools to Email, Embed, and Bookmark Resources & Pages

A new set of networking tools on TeachingBooks allows you to easily share resources and web pages—a powerful way to help colleagues know of and use relevant resources in this database.

Use the sharing tools to . . .

- * Email a collection of ready-to-use resources about a specific book to a colleague.
- * Embed resources for relevant reading lists on your webpage.
- * Bookmark a resource or webpage that you want to remember.

This Month's What's New Webinar: New "Blue" Sharing Tools
